First-Year Student Baccalaureate (Four-Year) Degree Admission Criteria

High School Requirements
The minimum high school units required for admission to baccalaureate degree programs are as follows (at most high schools, a unit is equal to one year of work):

Math—Three units of study of mathematics are required (four are recommended) selected from any combination of algebra, geometry, and trigonometry. One-half unit of trigonometry or higher-level math within the required units is necessary for majors in the Colleges of Business, Earth and Mineral Sciences, Engineering, Information Sciences and Technology, and Science; and by all other Business, Engineering/Engineering Technology, and Science programs.

All other colleges, as well as the Division of Undergraduate Studies, require three units of mathematics (four are recommended) selected from any combination of algebra, geometry, and trigonometry.

Language—Two units in a single world language other than English are required. However, a student may be admitted with fewer than two units, but must correct this deficiency by the time s/he earns 60 credits or graduates from Penn State, whichever comes first.

Special Academic Program Opportunities

Schreyer Honors College
Schreyer Honors College is Penn State’s undergraduate honors program for students demonstrating exceptional academic achievement and research or creative potential.

Note: Consideration for the Schreyer Honors College requires (in addition to the regular Penn State admission application) a separate application, which is reviewed by the college’s Faculty Selection Committee. You can access this application at shc.psu.edu.

Advanced Placement or International Baccalaureate Credit
Penn State cooperates with the College Board in the Advanced Placement (AP) program. Credit may be awarded for Advanced Placement examinations, depending upon the grade earned on the examinations.

If you have taken Higher Level Examinations in the International Baccalaureate program or have studied subjects at the advanced level in some foreign educational systems, you also may be eligible to receive Penn State credit.

Details are available from admissions officers at each Penn State campus or at admissions.psu.edu/academics/credit.

Services for Students with Disabilities
Penn State encourages academically qualified students with disabilities to take advantage of its educational programs. It is the policy of the University not to discriminate against persons with disabilities in its admission policies or procedures or its educational programs, services, and activities.

Students anticipating the need for accommodations, both before and after enrollment, are encouraged to contact the Office for Disability Services at University Park campus (116 Boucke Building, 814-863-1807) or the director of student affairs at other Penn State campuses. Additional information can be found at equity.psu.edu/ods.

Transfer Student Baccalaureate Degree (Four-Year) Admission Criteria

Penn State expects transfer students to apply for admission using the web application available at admissions.psu.edu.

For more information on transfer requirements, visit admissions.psu.edu/info/future/transfer.

Note: The University may make changes in its policies, procedures, and educational offerings at any time.
Does Penn State offer an early decision/action program?
No, Penn State does not use an early decision/action program in its admission process.

How long after filing my application will I receive a response?
In general, if your complete application and credentials are received in the Undergraduate Admissions Office by November 30, your anticipated notification date should typically be no later than January 31. If your application and credentials are received by December 31, your anticipated notification date should typically be no later than February 28. And if your complete application and credentials are received in Undergraduate Admissions on or after January 1, your anticipated notification date should typically be after March 1. Decisions for programs that include an audition, interview, or portfolio review may require a longer review period.

Transfer students are also encouraged to file applications as early as possible, preferably online and by February 1, for summer session or fall semester. Transfer students filing complete applications by that date can anticipate notification by April 1.

How can I check the status of my application?
Use the status check feature available through your MyPennState.

What will Penn State evaluate when considering my application for admission?
Admission decisions for Penn State are based on a variety of factors, all viewed in relation to each other. The most important factor, the student’s high school performance, accounts for approximately two-thirds of the admission decision for first-year students. The remaining one-third of the decision is based on other factors, including standardized test scores, personal statements, and activities lists.

Should I send letters of recommendation?
Letters of recommendation are not considered in the evaluation.

Are interviews required?
Interviews are not typically required as part of the admission evaluation. Those academic colleges or majors that do make use of an interview, audition, or portfolio review are indicated in the application instructions.

May I schedule a visit to one of the Penn State campuses?
Penn State encourages all potential applicants to visit the campus(es) of their choice. Programs and schedules vary from location to location, so you should contact the admissions office at your campus of choice for specific information or go to admissions.psu.edu/pennstate/campuses.

Does Penn State consider extracurricular activities or part-time employment in its evaluation?
Typically, Penn State has not used this information in reviewing every application. However, we encourage you to provide both the activities information and personal statement on the application form so it is available for review when appropriate.

Will my chances for admission be affected if I apply for financial aid?
No, our admission process is not affected by financial need. Admission decisions and student aid awards are made independently by two separate administrative offices.

Admission Information

College/Postsecondary Attendance

(Application Question #25)

First-Year Applicants
First-year applicants who have taken any college work should have the registrar of the institution(s) attended send us an official transcript of all work completed to date. A final, official transcript will be required when all work is completed. A cumulative collegiate grade-point average of 2.0 (C) on a 4.0 scale, computed in the manner used for Penn State students, is the minimum University requirement for admission consideration.

Transfer Applicants
Transfer applicants should forward official transcripts from all institutions attended, in the original, sealed envelope provided by those schools. A final transcript is required when all work is completed.

Even if you enrolled for a brief time and did not complete courses or earn credit, you must have the registrar send us a transcript or an official letter verifying that you withdrew in good standing. Failure to provide a list of all colleges and universities attended may result in a delayed admission decision, loss of transfer credit, and/or cancellation of admission.*

*Please note: Two years (four semesters) of full-time college course work are required for transfer to University Park campus.

Campus Selection

(Application Question #31)

If you plan to enroll in a baccalaureate (four-year) program, you may begin the majority of our programs at any campus. First-year admission to University Park campus is highly competitive. Historically, about 60 percent of our first-year students begin their studies—and spend as many as two years—at a campus other than University Park. Your final choice of major will determine where you complete your junior and senior years.

If you plan to enroll in an associate degree (two-year) program, be sure to select a campus where the program is offered. Associate degree programs are generally not available at University Park campus.

Your credentials for acceptance will be evaluated for each campus, in the order you specify. If you fulfill the entrance requirements for your first-choice campus, you will be accepted there.
